

Attraction & Methods

HOW TO TALK TO WOMEN
WORK BOOK

INTRODUCTION	5
PART 1	10
PRINCIPLES BEHIND VALUE, ATTRACTION AND COMFORT	11
SECURITY AND RELIABILITY	18
LOVE AND COMPANIONSHIP	33
HAPPINESS	51
PROSPERITY	57
ACKNOWLEDGMENT, RESPECT AND EGO	60
CONCLUSION	75
EXERCISE SECTION	79
PART 2	82
INTERACTION	83
EXERCISE SECTION	85

Please Read The Following Carefully Before You Do Anything Else!

There are reasons I wrote this book. Writing this content meant spending more focus time and effort. I wrote this book because it is absolutely a needed component to help you master the art of talking to women. This book is a crucial primer to get a good grasp of the content in DVDs.

If you are like me you probably hate to read. You probably skim through the text. I sincerely urge you to resist the temptation of doing so. I have important information spread throughout this book to help you succeed with women. There are no fillers. This book is valuable content that you don't want to miss.

I have listed steps to follow in this book. If you read this book carefully and follow the directions your ability to flirt and seduce women will improve greatly.

I could have skipped this step and saved time and effort. I did this ONLY because the information here is needed for you to succeed. Please do read every word of this book carefully. In fact I would recommend that you read this book a couple of times.

Best Wishes,

Magic

INTRODUCTION

Introduction

Dating and seduction is a skill set. How to talk to women and flirt with them is a form of art.

Few men possess the skill set to seduce women and lead the interaction to achieve the desired outcome.

Most men grow up in environment that is competitive and masculine. Many lack the exposure to female companionship during childhood and youth. As a result they lack the understanding and skill set to interact with women at an emotional level as adults.

How To Talk To Women Home Study Course is designed to help you fill the communication void and become master at the art of Interactive Seduction.

This program will successfully introduce various principles and strategies that will help you stand out in the eyes of women. It is designed to educate you about the underlying principles and values that strike women at an emotional level. You can then establish sexual and romantic relationship with women of your choice.

You will master the art of delivering values, lines and emotions that will make women experience instant romantic and sexual connection with you.

How To Talk To Women Home Study Course is designed to help you stand out and become natural at the art of interactive seduction.

Once you go through the program your communication style with women will change forever. You will never be able to hold yourself back. By the end of the course you will possess the skill set to flirt effortlessly with every woman you meet.

In the next few pages I have listed some exercises. These exercises are key to rewire your brain with effective principles of flirting and seducing women. Please do not take these exercises lightly and make sure to go through them.

I personally used these exercises to improve my interactions with women.

Attraction Methods has the highest ratio of client success in the world. 3 out 4 clients that I have trained in 2009 and 2010 ended up sleeping with women within 1 week of training. These are verifiable facts. This figure does not include the number of men who are in successful relationship or have gotten married since I trained them during the last few years.

The lessons from this program played a big part in their success. In every workshop I help clients master the art of interaction with women. I train them to become flawless in the application of seduction interaction and help them customize it to their personality and lifestyle.

I guarantee that if you apply the principles and lessons from this program you will turn into a seduction and flirting machine that will draw women to you like moth to a bright light.

I thank you for taking a chance on me and for investing your time and money on this training program. I am confident you will immensely benefit from this program and will experience life-altering results.

Good Luck And Happy Flirting!

Magic

Part 1

PRINCIPLES BEHIND
BUILDING VALUE
GENERATING
ATTRACTION
AND BUILDING COMFORT

(Disc 1-3)

Human desire is fueled by the values, traits or features inherited by commodities or subjects we desire. We pay more for a car that has moon roof because it is a feature or value we desire.

Such is the case with attraction. We desire partners who possess value or traits that in our mind will enrich our lives in one form or another.

We desire things that make our life more convenient, better, happy, safe and prosperous. Selling is easy if you develop good understanding of human desire. Developing product and services are simpler if you understand the basic needs and desire that drive humans.

Attraction is quick, simple and powerful if you can demonstrate the possession of values and traits that are desired by members of the opposite sex. Some of these values are general but many vary from one individual to another. You will choose and demonstrate values based on the individual you are interacting with.

The first part of this course explores various values, traits and behavior that women desire in men.

In the context of dating and relationships we interact with members of opposite sex for an opportunity to flaunt traits that make us desirable. The potential mate then reciprocates this behavior and mating happens.

This course will focus on teaching things you should say and the manner in which you should say them to make women desire you for romantic and sexual relationship.

Seduction will become easy and effortless, once you understand these principles and display them during interaction with women.

Most human beings driven by following 5 needs:

1. Security And Reliability
2. Love, And Companionship
3. Happiness, Passion And Compassion.
4. Prosperity
5. Accomplishment, Acknowledgment, Respect And Ego

Understanding and learning to steer conversation around these needs will make you a great sales man. You will be able to sell anything to anyone at any price you desire. This includes selling your self to the woman you desire.

Watch any TV commercial, newspaper advertisement or listen to a radio jingle. I guarantee that every commercial is employing at least 2 of the 5 above stated emotions to create in us a desire and acceptance for their product.

Think about the last purchase you made. I guarantee one of these factors played a motivator in your decision. Think about the last woman you dated or the one you desire at this moment. Why did you pick her over another woman?

If you think about it, you will soon realize that in one way or another she appealed to one of these needs or emotions. And that emotion is the one you value most when choosing a mate.

Now think how easy seducing a woman will be if you can subtly demonstrate that you are the epitome of the traits and behavior that she values the most.

However make sure that these values are aligned with of the above stated 5 principles.

A wild life officer won't necessarily date you because you work in a zoo but she may be attracted because of your passion for taking photographs of animals.

This is because you may be employed for monetary reasons but you definitely photograph animals out of passion. This is a trait women desire in men and is also in line with our 3rd value because it demonstrates passion and compassion.

If you develop a good understanding of these principles and learn to execute them right every statement you make to or around women will appeal to their emotional desire to be with you.

Women will start seeing value in you that matters to them and is rarely displayed by other men. Once they experience this emotion in your company 3 or 4 times they would want to be with you.

This all the game you need to generate attraction and make a woman want you. From this point on all you have to do is maintain attraction and get sexual or romantic. When a woman feels attraction for you she will help you to make it happen without friction.

One of the big factors of my success with people and women is my ability to say the right things at the right time.

What this means is that when I speak with people I have the ability to instantly notice values that matter to them. Then in my responses and statements I inject words, emotions and behavior they crave. I display traits that they find trustworthy and likeable by their standards. The result is instant trust and liking for me.

This does not mean I pretend to be someone else or say and do things I do not believe. I simply alter my approach and presentation to make them drop their guards and develop faith in me. Once I have their trust and liking I can lead them to where I want them to be.

For example, when I meet a woman and she tells me that she is in a relationship I do not start challenging her to leave her boyfriend for me because I am a better lover. If I do that I will instantly lose her.

On the contrary, I talk more about her boyfriend because I realize that he is something she values. During our interaction I investigate things that matter to her outside of her boyfriend. Then I subtly demonstrate that I possess the best version of everything she wants. The result is instant attraction and liking for me.

This statement makes it seem like lot of work and a lengthy process. In reality it takes less than 30 minutes to make a woman come to the conclusion of picking you over the boyfriend.

With this example I wanted to give you an idea how to calibrate so you can lead women without resistance or lying.

By the end of this program you will have the ability to read women, detect emotions/values that drive them and be able to deliver words, statements and behavior that they seek in a lover. This will generate instant and uncontrollable attraction for you.

Let us explore these five needs and understand their application:

1. SECURITY AND RELIABILITY: Think of some TV advertisement you saw. I guarantee the subject was either living in a fancy house with good lighting, cruising in an expensive and reliable car or surrounded by loved ones.

This is done with the idea to plant feelings of security and reliability in the heart and mind of viewers.

Brink's security uses a reverse approach of demonstrating that your security is at risk if you do not take their product. They demonstrate this by showing a jealous lover kicking through the front door or a burglar entering the house when a woman is alone with her young daughter. The message: "Your security is at risk if we are not there to protect you".

These choices are no coincidence. Advertisers appeal to our need for security and reliability to sell their product. They understand our drive to stay safe from physical and emotional harm. They bank on the principle that we will buy a product if it promises to keep us safe and is also reliable.

They convince us that their product is safe by using brand name and offering warranty. At the same time they flash images of things we perceive to be safe and use taglines that appeal to our emotions.

Advertisers regularly make use of mountains, sky and ocean to promote their products. Studies show that human beings perceive mountain, sky and ocean to be most dependable because of their unaffected existence since the beginning of time.

Have you ever wondered why the links on webpages are blue? Study shows that human beings trust blue since it is the color of sky and water.

The developers of Internet cleverly chose the color blue to instill faith in users and motivate them to click the link.

Taglines like “as good as grandma’s recipe” are designed to use our unconditional trust for grandmother’s cooking to promote their product.

Use the knowledge of this principle to your advantage when you meet women. As social masters we want women to experience safety and trust in our company. We want them feeling that they are safer with us than in the company of anyone else.

Just like advertisers we have our own tools to make women trust and depend on us. This can be done by making statements directly to them or by sharing stories that demonstrate you are safe and reliable.

A simple action of offering woman a seat in a crowded train, pulling her away from the crowd, mentioning long lasting relations, giving her a warm hug, looking in her eyes while speaking about anything, holding hands from time to time will do the job of demonstrating security, reliability and longevity.

I sometimes reverse the situation by asking women to guard something for me or share something secret to convey that I feel safe with her and trust her.

When I am on a date I walk women to the car or train station. I text them after appropriate time to make sure they reached home safe. Depending on the location and time of the day I sometimes ask them if they would like me to drop them home. At times I insist on dropping them home if I fear for their security.

To avoid coming across as needy I add a joke or a statement to overcome that objection.

For instance when I text a woman inquiring if they made it safe I usually get a response yes I did and thanks for checking. I reply, “of course I still have to receive a hand job from you”. This instantly demonstrates that I care for them but am not being needy about it.

Most men are not trained to say or do such things. When you act in the above stated manner you stand out from rest of your peers. You show responsibility and care which make them feel safe with you.

This mindset should not be practiced just with your dates or women you like. This way of communication should be practiced with everyone and at every place including friends, family, coworkers and anyone else you meet.

Simply asking your coworker if their project is on time and if they need any assistance demonstrates you care. If they have to go home early or have a date offer to cover for them.

If your friend (male or female) is having trouble with their relationship take them out for a drink and make them laugh.

This kind of stuff is invaluable. They will never forget you came through for them.

These people will speak highly of you behind your back. This will generate attraction among other people. When they go out with you they will behave extra nice and friendly towards you. This will again raise your value in the eyes of onlookers.

The objective of my training program is not just to teach material you can use at a bar.

I like to teach you how to build a lifestyle so no matter where you are, what environment you are in or who you are with you are always attracting women.

The objective is to make women fall in love with you anytime they meet you.

You can always be proactive and interact with women to attract them. You should also have system where environment and your peers are actively planting attraction in the hearts of women for you. This way you are popular and have a choice of women.

Why do you think my clients excel with women in no time?

In my workshops I don't just teach how to approach and seduce women. I teach my clients how to alter their individual lifestyle so they are generating attraction 24 hours a day even when they are not physically present.

These above examples are enough to demonstrate that you are safe and reliable.

When you meet a woman for the first time at a bar you do one of the following:

1. Tell a story that demonstrates this side of you. When I meet women for the first time I tell them a story or share a memory that reveals I care for other people's security.

For instance I will touch women or joke around and say:
"Let me know if I start harassing you. I sometimes get carried away and don't pay attention. Here is a funny story for you. I used to date this woman. We met on my college campus and the very same evening she was at my place. Things escalated and we started having sex.

It started with us horsing around. At some point I got carried away and made a scary face. She got scared to death. I have never seen anyone this scared.

I instantly jumped out of the bed and stood 10 steps away from her. I said Babe you are absolutely safe. Sorry if I did something wrong. I meant no harm.

She collected her breath and called me back to bed. Of course now I took my time. I asked her if she was sure and wanted me to come back to bed. We did get on...

I know I can be retarded. It's just that I get comfortable with people fast. I know I will never harm you or anyone but there is no way for you to know this since you just met me.

So feel free to kick me in the nuts if I step on your toes and refuse to move cause I am on a mission to steal our neighbors drink... but be gentle cause it hurts”

Now even though this story has some negative elements of bad calibration it builds instant trust because no one talks about things that make them look bad. This instantly makes you believable and you earn trust points.

Using this story I also demonstrate that I pay attention to women. I demonstrate that women trust going home with me. I demonstrate that if they take a chance on me I am sensitive to their security and will never hurt them. At the same time I am light hearted about the ordeal.

Here is another true story that I share with women. When a woman says she has been to Mexico or when we speak on the topic of traveling the world I gently mention:

“One place I will never go to is Mexico. This is not to criticize Mexico or people there. It is because of one of my previous experiences.

I used to date a Mexican girl. She wanted to be a doctor. She went to Mexico for an internship that would help her to get into the grad school of her choice.

She went to a city called Oaxaca. She called me one night when it was 10pm there. She was walking home from a pizza party.

I said, "Marina what are you doing staying out this late at night?" She started laughing and said, "Magic you worry too much. I know what I am doing. I won't jeopardize my security." As soon as she finished her sentence, she started screaming. Her phone dropped and I thought I lost her for life.

I jumped on the website for Mexican consulate. It had warnings against walking on streets by yourself, taking public transport or driving around. I was like why the fuck should we go to Mexico. Anyway, I found a kidnapping hotline number 161. I was unable to call them.

I frantically start calling her sister and mother but no one answered.

Her sister never answers my calls because Marina at one point suspected there was something going between her sister and I. This was never the case. I would never do anything like that with my girlfriend's sister. Best friend is a different story. So you know if we date you wanna keep your friends away from me. Sister fine best friends not fine 😊

Anyway moving forward...I finally hear from Marina. She mentioned that a car pulled over and tried to drag her in. She started yelling and screaming and neighbors came to her rescue.

I got a plane ticket and brought her back the next day. There was no way I was letting her stay there for another day.

I cannot tell you the feelings of pain, hurt and helplessness I felt when this happened. I am sure you understand how it can make one feel but we men take this harder because we are wired to be protective. In this case there was nothing I could do. I can assure you this was not a good feeling.

A week later she mentioned she wanted to go back and finish her internship. This would have caused me to sit on pins and needles for as long as she was in Mexico. Now I am not a guy who is against women making a career but doing it at the cost of your safety is not my thing.

I told her I support her decision but I cannot sit here knowing the woman I love could get hurt. So in order to save me from the pain I decided to break up with her.

She tried hard to prevent this and I know it was very selfish on my part but I had to do this because I also have responsibility for myself.

I understand people do things differently but I personally cannot date or marry someone who puts themselves in danger. I can never date a woman from the military for the same reason.

It sucks too-because I really liked her. So after this instance I decided never to go to Mexico.

I know I sound silly making this statement. I also know that someday I probably will go to Mexico because I admire things about their culture. But as of now Mexico is off the charts.”

I have various elements in this story to show that I care for the safety and security of women I love. I keep insisting from beginning to end that my safety and safety of my loved ones is very important.

To the listener this story is believable because I drop the name of my ex and include details about the stuff I found on a consulate website. But it is not enough to compromise her identity.

I also mention my ex suspecting an affair between her sister and I. This is another sign that I am not trying to hide or polish the negative sides. It also demonstrates I am sexual. I also make a joke about dating her and cheating with her best friend. No one will say this if they actually mean it.

I also call myself “silly and selfish” to show that I am not trying to impress.

The combination of verifiable facts plus my attitudes about staying safe, keeping my women safe together with making fun of myself and being lighthearted makes me real, human, trustworthy and reliable.

You do not have to go into these big stories to make a point.

You can talk about celebrities endangering their loved ones. For instance you can mention Michel Jackson holding his kid by the ears and suspending him from the second story and express your shock.

You could also hint about your relationship dynamics with your mother or sister and it will be enough to show you are safe and reliable.

2. Do something that demonstrates this side. You can also demonstrate by taking small actions. If a woman is standing by the railing take her hand and switch places. Look in her eyes and say, “I do not want you to fall down” then continue with your conversation.

If she is on walking on the outside, trade places and you get on the outside.

If there is a candle burning close to her move it away. You can even make a joke on it: “I am sure you will taste just as good roasted but I think I prefer to eat you raw”.

Get into the habit of making people feel safe and comfortable around you with words and actions. You will stand out every single time.

When you watch the DVDs pay attention how I will subtly make use of these principles from time to time.

2. LOVE AND COMPANIONSHIP: Returning to my examples from TV commercials: When was the last time you saw someone buying a bottle of Jack Daniels to sit alone and drink in the dark? When was the last time you saw a woman cook a meal only for herself?

Advertisers use people, love, romance, groups, social events and gatherings to summon our emotions of love and companionship.

They realize the human need for unconditional love. Every man and woman longs for a partner who chooses them over rest of the world. The more prestigious, popular and accomplished this partner the more special one feels. They want to show the whole world what they possess. Marriage and love for many people is a measurement that proves someone must be cool enough to be desired by another human being.

Advertisers take advantage of this human emotion. This is why they deploy concepts such as “true love”, “only one for me” and jingles like “Every kiss begins with Kay” in advertising. The message is simple: if you value the person in your life, you will demonstrate that by buying XYZ.

Most people want love and companionship. They go out of their way to make it happen but unfortunately very few are skilled at socializing. This is why women desire men who are socially apt.

You can apply this awareness in two ways to charm a woman and trigger strong emotional responses from her:

a) You can make a woman feel seduced, loved and turned on in your company in a manner that makes her feel special. Make her experience emotions she has not felt before in the company of another man. This will make her feel like she has a special connection with you.

I was once demonstrating how to touch women. The woman I was using as my model said she has only been touched like that once before and she still thinks of this man.

You will notice in the DVDs I am always getting sexual with women. Every opportunity I get I initiate touch and make strong eye contacts. I keep steering conversation in sexual direction. I hold women and let them know how bad I want to make love to them.

The idea behind my moves is to turn women on by using words and actions that appeal to their sexuality.

Most men act “nice” and “decent” when they approach women. They hold off touching and getting sexual because they don’t want to disrespect women.

I get sexual with women right away. I demonstrate with my actions that I understand women are sex driven just like men. I demonstrate that my desire for them is not disrespectful but a compliment to their irresistible beauty.

The more I touch women the more I get sexual with them the more they get turned on and appreciate my gestures. It does not matter whether sex happens or not at this moment. I want women to think about the possibility of having sex with me. I want them to remember constantly that I am trying to have sex with them. This is why you will notice I talk about women's nude bodies along with their bra and panties during my conversation.

Very few men can speak this language. Once women see this side in me they talk to me on a sexual level and stop acting "nice". This makes sex, romance and relationship happen at the speed of light. I know this because I have been on both ends of the spectrum.

This piece of information is crucial to coming across as dominant and establishing sexual comfort with women. This one piece of information has increased the success of my clients with women exponentially.

No matter what topic you discuss with women do it with a strong sexual vibe. This is exactly what you will see me do throughout the video. Now you will know why I keep talking about seeing them nude and their private parts. However remember to do it in a sensual way and avoid the porn lingo.

When a woman talks to you she should not focus on seeing you as another man but focus on seeing you as a potential sexual partner.

While talking to women say words and take actions that lead her brain in the direction of sex. She should keep wondering if the two of you are going to have sex. She should constantly be evaluating if she should have sex with you or not. A woman will feel feminine if she experiences these thoughts in your presence.

Once she starts experiencing these feelings there is no going back.

This is precisely why I wanted you to read this book before watching the videos. Everything I say or do will now make sense. Now you will be able to see the secret moves, gestures and messages in my delivery that are not visible in the absence of this knowledge. You will now see that everything I say or do is fueled by my intention and motivation to stand out and make women experience sexual thoughts for me. This makes women want me as their lover.

In addition, I am always checking out other women and gently flirting with them while seducing the woman I want. This plants a sense of urgency in the woman I am seducing. She starts pitching in to make something happen between us before another woman steals me.

This is the power of love and sexual feelings. If you can summon these feelings in a woman while talking to her she will undoubtedly feel attraction for you.

b) You can demonstrate to a woman that everyone wants your companionship. This means you are a worthy mate.

Demonstrating our ability to connect with other people and having a social life appeals to women. This assures them that being with you will allow them to meet more people and have fun.

Follow the path of an ad film director. It is not about making women aware of the number of friends you have. Paint the picture of type of friendships you have and what transpires when you are with them.

I share as much information about my friendships as I can. I talk about experiences where my friends helped me through school, immigration and jobs. I even talk about my friend who let me stay rent-free for a year so I can establish my career.

I mix these stories with memories of exotic vacations, mistakes, mischiefs and conquests I experienced with my friends.

Most men avoid talking about help they receive from their friends because they think it makes them look weak. I talk about it so women can see abundant people who do things for me. I must be popular or possess something special that so many people are standing by me.

In the matters of the heart women want to be with a man who is popular and loved by other people.

Women think that dating a man who is loved by other people will raise their value. They think that other men and women will think that she must be special that this popular guy chose to date her over other women in his life.

The idea also is to demonstrate our ability to build strong connections with people. This ensures that I am capable of holding relationships.

Finally and more importantly, it reveals that I have a lifestyle that is fun.

Once again, I demonstrate these elements by way of story telling. I could be talking about traveling or Europe and then mention the French Olympic team that stayed in my house. This happened when I was dating the French woman who was the head coach for the team.

You can see how dating the coach for French Olympic team will raise my value in the eyes of women. It just goes to show that I do not date ordinary women. Women in my life have some special element to them. The fact that French Olympians stayed with me shows I have an interesting friend circle and lifestyle.

I am always on the lookout for opportunities to subtly plant these values. If I complement a woman on her dress I will instantly use it to my advantage.

I will say something like, "I love your dress. You are the second woman I have seen wear something like this. I used to date this German girl and this was her style. She works for a bank dedicated to millionaires. She was going to school here when we were dating. I love this style of dress but unfortunately most women avoid this".

Notice how this compliment is less about her dress and more about me dating a rich girl with cool style.

When someone asks me what I do for living or where I stay, I reply: "I am a film maker or a dating coach. I have been doing this for about three years now.

It is coming along nicely but obviously it is going to take time. Thanks for my landlord I have a place to stay. My landlord is a good friend of mine. She is a total sweet heart and I love her. When I started my business I was going to move out of her place because I knew my income would be uncertain over the next year.

She was such a darling she insisted I stay. She said, “Magic, you cannot leave this place until your business takes off. You do not have to pay me rent for this time.” I did not pay her for a full year and she was ok with it. She really cared for me and wanted me to succeed. It’s not like I was doing her or anything. She is just an awesome person.

Honestly I am so blessed to have friends like her. I can go on and on about how all my friends are the pillars to my success. Thanks to all the friends for extending unconditional support, I now have a stable career, green card and exciting life. I am a blessed to have not one but dozens of friends who treat me like their family and go out of their way for me. I love them all and hope we always stay this close.”

Most men when talking about career focus on how awesome they are or how good they are doing. This works well in the business world but in the world of romance it serves little purpose.

If you notice when asked about my career I focused on sharing information about how my friends love me. Again I must be doing something right to make people want to care for me. This makes me seem loved and popular.

Also this kind of friendship and social circle are rare to find. This makes a woman see value in me. She wants to be with the man who is loved by people. She wants to be part of the circle where people care.

Whenever I get an opportunity I demonstrate to women how much people love me. I demonstrate how much my life is about friends, socializing, love and happiness.

Now that you are on the path to becoming a social master start getting used to demonstrating these values to women with every opportunity you get. Practice injecting stories and examples in all kind of conversation to demonstrate how people like you.

My interaction with women is a lookout for opportunities to show off. No matter what we talk about I will find a way to inject some story related to the topic and demonstrate value or get sexual. Remember to do it subtly and under the radar.

Get into the habit of flirting and making small talk with every woman you meet. This will help to demonstrate that other women like you.

Finally, get used to acting sexual around women so they desire you for romance and sex.

One of the things I focus on while coaching my clients during the workshop is to make them a flirting machine. I teach them how to take advantage of their personality and lifestyle so they can flirt with every woman they meet. You are bound to end up with multiple women if you are flirting non-stop with every woman you meet. The skillset is to do it naturally and subtly.

Make a woman see and experience emotions of love, sex and companionship in your presence just like a filmmaker would do.

I also inform women about my love life through stories, cold reads (explained in the videos) or games. Depending on my objective I will position myself as a monogamous lover or a guy who is bit reckless.

I never present myself as a player or pickup artist. If a woman ever accuses me of that I reply, "I wish". I take the humble approach and tell women that I am fortunate that women choose me. I tell them I don't think I have the skills to seduce women. I just get lucky.

This makes women feel powerful and in control. Their guards drop instantly. They realize I am not a liar who brags to look good.

The story of my ex who went to Mexico or the instructor for French Olympic team I dated is enough to convey that I am sexually and romantically appealing to women or they won't be dating me. I like to mention 3-4 stories like this to suggest the idea that many women have dated me.

At times I mention regret over a one night stand I had with the girlfriend of my friend. I mention that I know it was stupid but she came so strong I could not resist. I tell them that I feel like a horrible person for doing this.

This conveys to women that I am not trying to impress them and that I am being totally open. It also sets up the frame that I am sexually active with multiple partners. This makes easy for women to participate in one night stand.

This also tells them that women aggressively pursue me. I cannot tell you the number of times when women have told me that they have cheated on their boyfriends and husbands just to assure me that it does not make me a bad person. And almost every woman that I confessed my crime to ended up sleeping with me.

When a woman sees that other women are cheating on their boyfriends to be with you your value shoots up through the roof. But empty stories are not enough. You have to back up your skill set by flirting with other women in front of the woman you are seducing.

I know lot of people say you should never bring your past relationships in discussion. I firmly believe you should discuss them to demonstrate women like you. It will work in your favor as long as you don't make it sad, depressing, bitter or angry. Make sure it is brought up in a subtle and relevant manner. Your intention should not be obvious to the listener.

Women adore men who are loved by other men and women. Use this knowledge to generate attraction. For instance, you can talk to another woman or group of people when you are with the woman you want to attract. I always befriend my servers and bartenders in front of my date to show how people connect with me.

I have friends who are bartenders and hairstylists. It creates a great impression when they give a free haircut or drink to my date.

Anywhere I work I establish personal relationship with every employee. I take smoke breaks and lunch breaks with different colleagues. This demonstrates that everyone at the office loves me.

I used to work at this office. I was friends with everyone. There was a hot woman that every man including my boss was trying to seduce. Everyone kept making moves on her. I took the opposite strategy.

I talked to everyone except her. Anyone she talked to told her how awesome I was. Once day she asked me if I do not like her because I do not talk to her. I said, “No, I like you, it’s just that I am busy.” I ended up fucking her.

When I go to a bar with female friends or make friends at the venue I talk to them in a loud voice. I even kiss them on the cheek in front of other women and bartender. Almost every bar I visit frequently I have used this strategy to sleep with bartenders.

I sit at the bar with my woman friend. Then talk to her about love and sex using high loud energy (demonstrated in the video). I kiss her on the cheek a few times. This makes me come across as a friendly guy whose company is enjoyed by women.

Sometimes I take 3-4 different female friends to the same bar and repeat my behavior. Before you know you find yourself waking up with the bartender.

If you are a friendly person, you will make an effort not just with the woman you like but also with her friends. This is another mistake most men make. They will focus on the woman they like and ignore her friends. No one likes to be left out.

I spend 60% of the time winning friends of the woman I like. If they like me they will talk her into seeing me again. If they do not like me they will make it harder for me to get her.

All of this should give you a good insight on how to behave around women. You should start to get a feel for things to say and do that makes you come across as a social and sexually desirable man.

Once women see these values in you and feel sexual in your presence they will go out of their way to keep you in their life.

From now on everything you say or do should be in a manner that makes you appear friendly, social, sexual and desirable by other people.

Pay careful attention to my words in the video. Try to observe how I sneak in these values every time I find an opportunity. Then practice it on your own. Before you know, you will be sending me a testimonial about hot women you have been sleeping with since you went through this course.

Remember that things I am telling you are not strategies but lifestyle. I am behaving and demonstrating these values 24-7. Whether I intend to sleep with someone or not I am demonstrating the 5 values we are talking in this workbook.

This way no matter where I go and no matter who is around I become the hot thing that everybody wants. I do not have to come with a strategy to pull the bartender home. My 3 visits to the bar and flirting with women on autopilot demonstrate the fact that women want me. The bartender naturally starts to experience heat for me once she sees me with women. All I have to do now is to make my move.

3. HAPPINESS: This one is obvious. I do not have to explain much on this topic.

You will never see people drinking to sadness in commercials. The only time you will see someone sad is when the product is about to make them happy. You have a bill to pay call 877-cashnow. You have a sore throat then take our product so you can be happy again. Advertisers show human suffering to make a point that their product can ease your pain. The message is, “We know you want to be happy. We are just the thing you need to become happy.”

Make use of this formula to seduce women. Women should experience happiness in your company. They should start thinking that if they have you suddenly their life will become happy.

Many men start offloading challenges in their life upon meeting women. They focus on criticizing other people, politicians, policies, boss, friends, family and anything they can think of.

I only talk about good and positive things. When a woman makes some statement to bring her value down I challenge her belief system. If a woman says, “I wish I were a bit skinny”. I reply, “You kidding me. You are perfect the way you are. I am not saying this to get into your pants. Not that I don’t want to get into your pants but dude you look fuckin amazing. I am not against skinny women but your looks make you feminine and I like women who are feminine.”

Sometimes I go on and on saying things like: “you are a perfect baby-making machine. You do not know how much your looks turn on men. Ok tell me the truth. Don’t you notice men checking you out all the time? (Every woman experiences this). She replies, “yes”. I say, “Why do you think it is? You are so sexy that every man including myself wants to do nothing but have sex with you.”

If a woman says, “I wish I were bit bigger”. I reply, “You kidding? You are perfect the way you are. Listen anyone can become big! Maintaining yourself is hard to do! You have maintained yourself very well. I love scanning every inch of your body. You have a body of a 16 year old. I feel young and pedophile around you...It's very comforting to know I have the potential to be a child molester".

If a woman is having a bad day I hold her hand, look into her eyes and say, "Look at your watch. It is 10.30pm right now. Look back at your watch again in 3 hours from now. If you have not forgotten all of your worries by then and have big smile on your face then call me and say Magic you are an asshole! I won't defend myself".

Sometimes I will reply, "Hey it could be worse. You could be an Indian guy named Magic with a weird accent, ugly nose, receding hairline that no one likes to talk to. And he is still a virgin at the age of 35". They instantly reply saying that is not true and that you are good looking person etc.

I use this opportunity to build deeper connection and liking for each other. When they give me compliment I hold their hand, look in their eyes and say, "So are you. I won't be wasting my time with you if you were not sexy and special. Though to be honest I like your breasts and vagina more than you." I end it with a kiss on the cheek.

I end these statements with a joke to make them more believable. There must be a balance here. If I keep persisting and flattering then the woman will think of me as patronizing. When I end with a joke it appears I am not trying to kiss ass. It demonstrates I actually like them as opposed acting nice to make them happy. This is very powerful. It prevents you from coming across as a manipulator.

Moving forward...

One time I was driving to a restaurant for my first date. My date was in the car with me. At one point I made a sharp turn. She got scared. I bragged and said don't worry I have never had an accident. Bam I rear-ended someone as soon as I finished my statement.

I got out of the car exchanged my insurance and started driving again. I apologized to her and promised to be careful. I never mentioned the accident again and we had a good time.

Next day she said, "You are a very optimistic and a happy person." I enquired how she reached this conclusion. She said because you got into an accident and you did not let it bother you. I replied, “Of course. The accident had already happened. My insurance will go up and I cannot do anything about it. Now I can at least enjoy my time with you or waste it over something that is out of my control. What kind of a sick man focuses on insurance when he has a beautiful vagina in front of him. I never do. I’d rather get Herpes from you than think of insurance a condom will provide me.” I kissed her on the cheek right away.

People, especially women, pay attention to your choice of words. They also tune into expressions, tonality, and your approach to things. A bitter person always loses points. A happy and optimistic person always attracts people.

This is because the bitter person is always complaining and putting people down. A happy and secure person is always making other people feel good.

Your ability to smile when things are tough, your ability to make fun of yourself makes you secure and masculine. This makes a woman see you as a man they can depend for emotional comfort.

This is why I speak with a happy face and relaxed emotions when I share stories with women that include some negative aspects about me. I never frown or get angry about things that have gone wrong in my life. I will admit to missing my family but will never act sad. I will make a joke out of it or make a statement that all is well.

When a woman asks me if I miss my family I usually reply, “of course I do. I have another family that is you folk here and that makes up for everything. Since I feel like taking advantage of you right now I want you to know that I am hurting real bad. Only a good blowjob from you can ease my pain. Honestly I do miss them from time to time but don’t we all.” I then use this opportunity to share the stories on how my friends have been there for me like family members. Sometimes I will pull the woman close, hug and make out with her.

Once again you will notice throughout the DVD how I am always complimenting the woman and making her feel good about herself. You will also notice at times I will deliberately make an attempt to lower my value to make a woman feel good about herself. You will notice I will steer things in positive direction and have conversation that is pleasant.

Always stay positive. Make other people feel good. This will make you an attractive man in the eyes of women.

4. PROSPERITY: Even though prosperity is part of the happiness group I separated this to make a quick point. When you lure a woman into your life do it in a healthy way. I personally know people who are soaked in self-pity as a strategy to keep people close to them.

Yes you can con people into spending time with you out of sympathy. Yes you might succeed to get a few sympathy lays but it will hurt you in the long run. Misery only attracts misery. When I meet women I always demonstrate prosperity in my life.

There was a time I was broke and struggling with immigration issues. I would let women know I was broke and that my friends were feeding me seven days a week. I never displayed signs of self-pity when discussing this. I always mentioned the facts as if my situation was ordinary and everyone has these “little challenges” in their life.

I cannot tell you how effective this attitude is and how many women it drew into my life. How you deal with stress and hurdles is what demonstrates how masculine you are.

If you want women to follow you and see you as the symbol of masculinity then be optimist in the darkest time. Express fear or doubts if you have them but always supersede them with your un-waivered faith in the positive outcome.

I often say things like, “I don’t know if this will work but in the end I will be happy” or “It will all work out because it always does”.

I have applied for a patent for one of my personal quotes, “Nature has a perfect plan for you”. I always tell people if I could not make myself go through the law school it is because I am needed somewhere else. My first girlfriend cheated on me to give me the drive to become one of the leading and most successful dating coaches out there. Nature had a plan for me then and it has a plan for me now.

When a woman asks me what brought me to the United States, I reply, “ I came to US for a change of place. Things were not going well for me in India at the time. My fiancé, who I was dating for seven years, ended up sleeping with my best friend six months before we were scheduled to marry. My business failed at the same time. I was a loser and a very insecure person at the time. I tried to commit suicide (which was stupid on my part). I will never do anything like that again. My dad suggested I go to US for a while for a change of place and so here I am getting drunk and harassing you.”

Women usually express sympathy at this point and I reply, “Not at all. That was the best thing that could have happened to me. It was not her fault. I was a loser at the time. I would not date my previous self for 7 minutes. I do not know how she handled me for seven years. I feel fortunate that I got the opportunity to learn and become a good lover. Had I married her, I would still be a loser. With God’s grace I have dated some of the most beautiful women on this planet and they are still part of my life. This transition would have never happened had she not cheated on me. Everything happens for a reason and I am glad it happened the way it did. Life is much better now. And I pray To God that she is flourishing just like I am.”

Here I am talking about bad things that happened to me in the past and how I turned it into an opportunity to better myself. I mention my success in comparison to the past and it makes me appear secure. It makes sense that I am talking about dating the multiple women that I have in my life now because I started from a place where I could not even keep one woman in my life. Women become happy for success and many women have told me that they were inspired by my ability to overcome hurdles.

No matter what you talk about make sure it has positive undertones and always has a happy ending ;)

Always stay positive and believe things will workout.

5. ACKNOWLEDGMENT, RESPECT AND EGO: Every man and woman wants to be known for their accomplishments. I had a teacher in high school that once said, “A man without an ego is not a man.”

I am not proposing you to become an egomaniac. I am suggesting you become aware of the fact that human beings have ego. Planning moves that appeal to a woman's ego will make seduction easy and efficient.

Every man wants to date the hottest woman, drive the most expensive car, have a huge portfolio and so on. Similarly every woman wants to date a man who is passionate, loving, sexy, romantic, driven and desired by others.

As a kid I used to watch a TV commercial for a television set. The caption they used in this advertisement boosted the sale of this TV set by ten folds. The caption was "Neighbors Envy Owners Pride". If you can see the importance in this statement you are good to go.

Upon meeting, women should instantly notice values and traits in you that appeal to their ego. One look at you and the woman should feel like you are the man of all men. You are the epitome of masculinity, love and romance.

Russell Brand's career took off after Kate Moss took him home and slept with him. Why did this happen?

Why do we want to date popular men and women? It's not like they have tighter vagina or bigger penis. Dating popular people increases our social status. There must be something about Russell Brand that Kate Moss took him home over other men.

Jealousy works on the same principle. Women reason that there must be something special about this man that other women want him.

You need to become a walking billboard of values and traits that women crave. Have a sense of style that screams confidence and a difference from others.

Make eye contact like a sexual man and possess the body language of a man in control (demonstrated in the video). Women should be drawn to you even before you open your mouth. The more time they spend with you the more convinced they should become of the fact that you are the man that will complete them. You are the Holy Grail to their happiness or the answer to their prayers.

This is very easy to accomplish. The strategy you take will depend on your lifestyle. Your identity should strongly differ from your peers who have same identity as you. If you are a banker and look like one then you do not stand out. You are a banker with clothing that no one else can pull then you have something different about you.

If you are unsure about how to make it happen then I recommend you take a workshop or fashion consult with one of our coaches so we can help you develop the strong first impression that will make women drool.

When a woman sees value in you she will want to date you because this will raise her social status. Her friends will envy her for having you.

Most men demonstrate value and status by wearing expensive clothes and popular brands.

I do it by making a statement of my own and behaving differently from everyone. It starts with my fashion and body language. I have an impeccable fashion that screams different, confident, secure and sexy the minute I put it on.

I slouch with my body language because I like to convey to women that I am not the tough action hero. I want women to see me as the laidback Vince Vaughn from the movie "Dodge Ball". At the same time I make strong eye contact to demonstrate my sexual comfort and passion towards women.

This is why I consciously choose to sit on the table or floor instead of chairs at the venue, as you will see in the video. This helps me stand out from every other guy. Instead of body language I use bold moves to demonstrate masculinity. If I am wearing canvas or vans I take them off at the bar and restaurant. Women often say they have never seen anyone take their shoes off and become so relaxed in public. I get noticed.

I flirt with everyone. I make everyone feel good. When I approach a woman I make sure that her friends love me even if she hates me. When her friends desire me I become the man she wants to possess.

At my work my colleagues always envy me. My boss's take me out for lunch on regular basis. I make my own work schedule. I show up when I want.

My peers on the contrary work hard but rarely get noticed. They hardly get any appreciation and they almost never get to take a day off.

People stop by my space to talk to me. People treat me with respect and dignity. This includes my superiors. Most people do not understand how this happens. So they just label me a player or charismatic guy.

I am not a player. The secret to my charisma is that I make people feel good in my company. I talk loud, throw jokes and entertain people. I motivate people. I support people. I give them genuine and thoughtful compliments. I am there when they need help. This makes them fall in love with me and they want to see me more and more.

They cannot afford to lose me because I am among the very few people who treat them in this manner. I am too valuable to lose. Most people do the opposite. They are focused on avoiding people or waiting for people to approach them because they are important. These are the same men who end up envying me and feel intimidated by my presence.

When I go to a bar or restaurant I take time to talk to bartenders and bouncers. Not just flirt with them. When I get a chance I buy them drink or bring them a thank you note.

I give compliments to the bartender's colleagues about her. When the compliment reaches her she likes the fact that I was saying good things behind her back. I continue this cycle for other bartenders. As a consequence when I step into a bar every bartender and bouncer rushes to get some time with me. Women notice that and instantly see me as a guy desired by hot women. I can now get any woman I want.

When I approach a woman I give compliments to her friends and talk about their relationships. I insist her friends meet my friends because they will make great couples.

Any opportunity I see I help them with networking. It does not matter how helpful it is to them. When women see you make an effort to help them they like you.

Next time you find out that her good friend is an accountant start talking to that friend. Tell her you, in turn, have a friend who needs some help with accounting. Continue by saying, “Just talking to you I can tell you are the best and he should hire you. You don’t have to quit your job or anything but just talk to him. He would very much appreciate your help and pay you on the side. Then you can fly me business class to China for a vacation.”

Then look at the woman you are attracted to and say, “If you are nice to us, we may consider taking you with us. After all we need someone to bring us condoms when we run out of them.”

This gets you into roleplaying where her friend will join you and it also generates a little sexual teasing.

If you run into an actor tell her, “You should meet my actor friend. Who knows what connection might land you the next big role.”

When I meet people I am looking for openings to demonstrate that I am invaluable to them. I am always thinking what to say or do so they will want to see me over and over. What can I say or do so they will remember me years after our meeting.

If you can master the skill set to impress people where they think of you for a very long time you will have an army of men and women to serve you. You will have a long line of women begging to be included in your harem. All of this will happen because you are the social master who is loved by everyone.

Every word and statement I make is precise like a laser guided missile. I cannot afford to miss my target. You need to practice the same.

Every word or statement you deliver should win women, make them experience sexual thoughts about you, make them feel flattered or create bonding.

Once you develop the mindset and communication skill to leave an impression on people you will begin to say and do things that will instantly make you stand out. You will then reap the benefits of this mindset.

When I talk to friends of the woman I am attracted to I get rewarded instantly. The more I am nice towards them the higher the rewards. The fact that I am interested in them despite the fact that I like their friend makes them feel appreciated.

Women have a silent competition among them. The friends of your woman are already experiencing an emotion of loss because you did not pick them. By paying attention to them you make up for this loss.

If I ever go direct or profess my sexual intent to a woman in front of her friends I make sure I make her friends feel good.

For instance, if I go direct and say, “Just saw you. Had to get to know you.” I will instantly look at her friend and say, “Don’t get me wrong you are just as gorgeous but she is the one who caught my eye.” Or “Don’t get me wrong you are just as gorgeous but she is bit dorky which matches my personality.”

The more I insist on finding a boyfriend for her friends, hook them with my friends or help network, the more her friends lubricate my relationship with the woman.

I cannot count the number of times it was friends of my woman suggesting that we go home together. I cannot tell you how many times it was the friends who made the move to make me stay so their friend could sleep with me.

You should now ask yourself what differentiates you from your peers? What can you do differently so every time you meet people you leave them feeling “wow”? What can you say or do to leave that unforgettable impression on people?

Once you master this element you will become the man who wins crowds within seconds of entering unfamiliar territories. You will see more pussy than a gynecologist.

Just read the client success stories on my website to see how effective these strategies are. None of this is pickup and show off. It is a simple strategy to control women by triggering their emotions. This is about making improvements to your personality. This is about becoming a social magnet.

If I did not say this enough, “Make sure this should not come across as try hard. You cannot pick and choose whom you say such things to. You need to make a habit of making everyone feel good.”

Following this advice does not make you appear needy. It makes you smooth, secure and confident.

People give to others what they have in abundance. You give money to beggars because you have more money and not vice versa.

I have a friend who works for Paramount. She hates newcomers because they are egoist and attention seeking. She loves Will Smith and Clint Eastwood. They remember everyone by heart and always make personal talk with each employee. They always give compliments and make people feel special.

If you want to stand out then develop the belief system, mindset and inner game of a powerful man. Bill Gates does charity work and makes other people happy not because he is needy for their approval. He does this because he feels he is privileged.

You cannot fake this attitude but with practice you can become a man who believes in himself. I have numerous exercises in the Social Mastery Book to help men develop a sense of security and build confidence.

Get rid of negativity and start appreciating whatever little you have and soon you will begin to feel invincible.

If you start feeling blessed for your little accomplishments and realize that you have all your life to accomplish more than you will start to feel in control.

There is no way to pretend to be a secure man. The only way you do it is by becoming one. It is not hard. In fact it is the easiest thing to do. This comes from a guy who tried to commit suicide because he was so insecure. Start paying attention to positives and look at hurdles as an opportunity to grow. You will soon start to feel invincible.

Start putting this principle to use. Make women feel special in your company. Win people in every environment. Demonstrate how everyone who meets you instantly falls in love with you. Have an aura of confidence and you will never sleep alone for the rest of your life.

During your interaction with a woman say things to make her feel special. Share stories that demonstrate values that matter to her. Bond with her friends and flirt with other women to demonstrate that other women desire you. Then give her a reason why you choose her over other women and you will be a happy man.

CONCLUSION

Now you understand what conversation is about. Now you understand the purpose of talking to women. It is not to tell stories or exchange jokes. The purpose of interaction is to use the conversation tools and cast an impression so women want to be with you.

Tell them stories and jokes that shine light on your personality. Listen to their words and reciprocate with emotional responses so they melt. Say things and touch in a manner so they get turned on. This will make you an unstoppable sex machine. Every woman you will interact with will die to be in your arms. You can then choose who you want for pleasure of sex and romance.

By now you should have a good idea that my success with women is no coincidence. The combination of my words, fashion, body language, touching and personality draws women to me. Women allow me to seduce them, accept my sexually aggressive behavior because I stand out and appeal to their emotions.

They find my values attractive so they play along to make romance happen. Once you change your personality and incorporate these rules into your interactions your success with women will skyrocket.

Pay close attention to everything I say and do in the videos. Investigate what I say and why I say. Notice the values I demonstrate in every situation.

You will find that I always operate within these 5 rules. Then you will understand the effectiveness of my communication style. The secret behind my success with women will become obvious. The formula I use to charm women within minutes of meeting them will become abundantly clear when you look for these values in the video.

Once you are done watching the videos go and do the exercises in the next part. Then start applying these lessons in your everyday life. See how you start living the life of a Casanova using these rules.

I sincerely hope you will take these lessons to heart. I want nothing more than to see you succeed. This is in both of our interest.

I hope my openness and bluntness did not offend you. Pardon me if I said something inappropriate! I did not hold back and shared my honest thoughts with the intent to offer you the best advice. Sometimes it means opening up and sharing your deepest darkest thoughts.

I wish you all the best and look forward to your success stories.

Magic

EXERCISE SECTION

Exercises Before Watching The DVDs

Exercise 1

Make a list of values you think you have been demonstrating to people. If you do not know them ask one of your good friends how you come across to them.

Exercise 1.1

Make a list of different values you think are important and you would like to demonstrate.

Exercise 1.2

Ask yourself how can you effectively demonstrate these values to the world.

Make a list of real life stories that help you demonstrate your values.

Watch DVDs 1-3

Exercise 1.3

Compare your list to the one on DVD. Does your list match mine?
(It does not have to).

Is there any value or behavior from the DVD you would like to add to your list?

What specific story, behavior or action you need to start incorporating in your interaction to demonstrate your values.

PART 2

INTERACTION

(Disc 4-8)

Now that you have mastered the principles that generate attraction it is time to start putting them into action. This is the easy part.

First go and watch DVD 4-8. Then read the routines book and come back.

Now that you have watched the DVDs and Read The Routines Book you should have a very good idea on how to create or pick content that you will use to demonstrate value, generate attraction, create bond, get romantic and achieve your objective.

Without wasting time let us get to the exercises.

EXERCISE SECTION

Exercise 2

Write down 5 openers that you would like to use and then practice them in front of the mirror until you feel like you own them. Try to envision using them in different venues and in different dynamics. Ask yourself if you could use any of those openers outside of bars at school, office, grocery store, friend's party etc. Keep researching for openers until you have something for every situation.

Exercise 2.1

Write down 5 things you can say after approaching and opening women. Once again make sure at least couple of them have the flexibility to be used in multiple venues and scenarios.

Exercise 2.2

Write down a real story from your life.

From the previous exercise pick up any two values and inject them into your story. Keep repeating until you have a story for every value you want to demonstrate. You can even have all values fitted in one story but do not force them. I would recommend having at least 5 story or life experiences so you can hold conversation for a while.

As you get more comfortable with women the stories and injecting value in everything will become insanely simple. You will then be able to do it on the fly.

Exercise 2.3

Write down 2 vulnerability stories from your life. Make sure they end on high note. The story should also reveal some information on demonstrate some values.

Exercise 2.4

Make a list of 5 topics you can talk about. Make sure they are women friendly. You should have a list from the videos.

- a) Once you have the list come up with at least one story or routine around that topic to demonstrate some value.

- b) Next think of how you will transition your routine or story to get romantic, sexual, display interest, bond and pay compliment.

Exercise 2.5—Texting

- a) Make a list of 5 openers you can use with texting
- b) Make a list of 5 questions you can use to get to know her
- c) List 5 different ways to interject fun. This should include at least one game
- d) List 2 vulnerability routines that can be conveyed on the phone. These have to be short.
- e) List 3 ways to turn conversation romantic.
- f) List 3 different ways to ask her out on a date.

Exercise 2.6--Date

- a) Make a list of 5 activities you can do on a date
- b) Make a list of places you can go for a date
- c) Make a list of 5 places you can bounce to and change venue when on a date. These venues should all get closer and closer to your house. This way you can say I am only a minute from here let me show you my place.

- d) Make a list of 5 different ways and places you can initiate sex with your date.
- e) Make a list of 5 irresistible ways of asking your date to come to your place.